INDIANA SOLON TO BE MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER, IS PLAN

Congressman Vestal, Republican Floor Leader, Will Give Oration At Exercises May 30.

Congressman Albert H. Vestal, member of the Indiana delegation in the House of Representatives, and Republican floor leader, will deliver the Memorial Day address, May 30, at exercises in the National cemetery here. This was announced today by a committee from Gettysburg camp, 112, Sons of Veterans, which is in charge of arrangements for the occasion. The Sons of Veterans have been asked by Corporal Skelly post, No. 9, Grand Army of the Republic, to plan for Memorial Day.

According to the announcement, the Sons of Veterans' committee had made unsuccessful efforts to secure President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes as the orator for the occasion. Both had previous engagements for May 30. The invitation to speak was extended both to Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Dawes by Congressman Menges, of the York-Adams district.

Mr. Menges then secured Congressman Vestal as the speaker. Mr. Vestal is said to be a fluent speaker of national prominence. He served in the sixty-ninth congress and has been elected to serve another four years. His home is in Anderson, Indiana.

It is planned by the committee to keep the invitation before Mr. Dawes in an effort to bring him to Gettysburg next year.

The Sons of Veterans' committee in charge of arrangements for Memorial Day comprises G. H. Roth, the Rev. J. B. Hafer, J. E. Snyder, E. F. Strausbaugh and Frank Waybright.

DR. METCALF GIVES LECTURE TODAY ON NEED OF CULTURE

"College students of today are impatient because of the tendency toward premature specialization," Dr. John Calvin Metcalf, dean of the graduate school of the University of Virginia, declared in his lecture before the students of Gettysburg college this morning.

Dr. Metcalf, who is rated as one of the foremost educational leaders of America, will give a public lecture in Brua chapel at 8:15 o'clock tonight on "Literature and Humor."

Speaking from the subject, "Colleges and Culture," Dr. Metcalf made a plea for less pure specialization and more general culture in the colleges. He stated that the colleges are suffering from a passion for efficiency and that in most institutions the students are becoming mere cogs in a machine and that consequently they are developing a nation of uneducated specialists.

Radio Program Sunday Night Pleases Host of Listeners Who Call In

Variety Of Talent Is Offered By WKBG Tonight, Broadcasting From Majestic.

From the hundreds of telephone calls, telegrams and letters, received by the Gettysburg Times and the announcer congratulating them on the initial program from WKBG, the Gettysburg Times radio broadcasting station, from which a religious service was broadcast from the stage of the Majestic theatre Sunday night, the success of the venture for the remainder of the week is virtually assured.

Hardly had the program started Sunday night before a number of radio fans residing in Gettysburg and other parts of the county started calling in to express their approval of the program being broadcast and in addition to this a number of telegrams were also received. These messages will be read as a part of the program to be broadcast tonight.

Sidney Sheppard, government announcer and manager of station WKBG, stated today that due to unforeseen circumstances it was not possible to answer the many messages which were received last night, but that recognition would be made this evening.

Many at Service

A large crowd attended the services at the Majestic theatre last night every seat in the house being filled and many were forced to stand at the rear of the auditorium.

While the initial program was entirely of a religious nature, the program tonight will be a varied offering of music and comedy numbers.

At 8:30 o'clock Burgess C. A. Heiges will officially open the station with a short talk and after that the program will consist of dance music by Dick Sponseller's orchestra, of York; several comedy numbers by Miss Ethel Weaver, also of that place, and a soprano solo by Mrs. J. B. Keller, of York. It is expected that the famous "Snowball," the dusky "hooper" of the Charleston and Black Bottom, will also be on hand to stir things up.

The local talent which will be heard over the air tonight will be the Penn Ramblers, several organ numbers, including "Andante from Tschai-kowsky's Fifth Symphony," and "A" (Continued on Second Page)

Guide Stops Team Of Runaway Horses

Disregarding his personal safety, Harry Rhine, a battlefield guide, stopped a team of two runaway horses in Center Square this morning by grasping the bridle of the nearest animal and throwing a handkerchief over the horse's eyes.

Mr. Rhine was standing on the curb around the grass plot in the oval when the animals dashed into the square from York street. Drawing his handkerchief from his pocket, Mr. Rhine sprang at the bridle of the horse nearest him, at the same time throwing the handkerchief over the animal's eyes.

The horses drew up sharply after dragging the guide several yards and were held until the driver of the team, A. C. Keefe, of Seven Stars, came upon the scene. The animals took fright at the warehouse of C. M. Wolf, North Stratton street.

College Student Makes Hole-in-one, Into Gym

A hole-in-one, after a fashion, is the bright spot in the spring training of one Gettysburg college student golfer. The hero of this hole-in-one was practicing driving from the cinder path near the new science hall when he put his soul and all his power behind a swing.

Driver struck the ball squarely and away the little white pellet flew, rising and rising until almost lost to sight. Then it started its downward course, traveling more than 120 yards, in flight.

A window in the new Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium was raised about a foot. Without touching window frame or sash, the ball sailed through this opening, landing on the floor inside after barely missing Harvey Bushman's head. Mr. Bushman looked around startled, spied the ball and pocketed it so that the golfer is minus a trophy for his hole-in-one.

And That's That

There seem to be two types of ministerial students,—those who read Sinclair Lewis and those who do not. Personally we have never read any of Mr. Lewis' ramblings as we can spend a more enjoyable evening playing Tit-tat-toe with Ebbitt, Jr. Nevertheless, Mr. Lewis commands our respect and admiration. He has an uncommon knowledge of practical psychology of which he makes admirable and telling use. Mr. Lewis writes a book that will cause hundreds of ministers to "talk back." Realizing the vastness of such free publicity the publishers of "Elmer Gantry" print 100,000 copies of the first edition instead of the customary five or ten thousand. In the pulpit and in the college ministers, college professors, and lecturers are acting as salesmen for Mr. Lewis in their efforts to save the minds of their charges from the "works of the Devil." When will people realize that the noisiest and the biggest drum is filled only with air and that frequently more harm is caused by denouncing a wrong than ignoring it?

If we are not careful the world will become a Christian world. The Sermon on the Mount has been read in the English house of commons during a discussion as to whether England should disarm or not and "become the first real Christian nation."

Which reminds us of a church meeting on missions we attended last evening at which the duties of a missionary were discussed. Somehow, there were few mission workers who realized the significance of the old saying, "Missionary, trader, gunboat." How true that has been in China! Missions will mean little until "church people" back in America make the United States government act as a Christian government. It's like sending blank shells to the boys in the front line trench.

Senator King has been refused admittance to Haiti. Good for Haiti. It's rather unusual for Haiti to even have an opinion much less a refusal in its system. So far as we can remember Haiti has not so much as elected a dog-catcher since "Philadelphia" Smalley Butler landed there with pistol in hand.

We forgot to mention the fact that we have not been in print for several weeks. We've got to get busy and look after matters around town. We haven't had time to look over the street cleaning situation and check up on the co-eds, but we have had time to find out that the academy students, as a whole, need a nurse-maid to make them behave in church Sunday nights.

And by the way it is an academy rule or merely a tradition that students should have at least two sticks of gum in their mouths during the church services?

We seem to have competition on the broadcasting business. We'll wager the Majestic theatre that our program will make more noise and cause more trouble than their program.

English starlings seem to be the bane of bird life in Gettysburg. Doctor Sutton has suggested that he send (Continued on Second Page)

HEARING ON BUS PERMIT IS NEAR

Whether or not Hanover is to have direct bus connections with Harrisburg will soon be decided by the state public service commission. The commission has been called upon to pass on the application of the Adams Transit company for a certificate to operate a motor bus between East and Harrisburg.

The Gettysburg-Harrisburg transportation company is opposing the application, especially that part of the route between Dillsburg and the Capital City. The Adams Transit has agreed to run restricted service between the disputed points and refrain from picking up local passengers. The Gettysburg bus line feels that connections should be made at Dillsburg.

The Adams transit company operates several bus routes in York, Adams, Franklin and Cumberland counties. It now covers the Lincoln Highway between York and Chambersburg, and also between Hanover and Carlisle. The case is to come before the commission at an early date for argument.

KIDNAPPED CHILD RETURNED HOME GROOM SPELLERS FOR CONTESTS

(By Associated Press.) Chattanooga, Tenn., March 28.—Little Virginia Josephine Frazier, 2-year-old daughter of Acting Mayor and Mrs. Fred B. Frazier, held by kidnapers for four days, was left on the front porch of a minister's home last night, dirty and only partially clothed but apparently unhurt. Mr. Frazier had paid a ransom of $3,333.33 earlier in the evening. Mrs. John Venable, wife of the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, found the baby when she answered the doorbell.

A drug, the kidnapper had administered to the baby, caused drowsiness, but in a few hours the effect had worn off.

The Fraziers were out of the city last Wednesday when the child disappeared while the nurse was in an adjoining room.

Every policeman in the city, private detectives and many citizens began an organized search, but to no avail.

Cow Testing Association Meeting
Dairymen of the county interested in starting a cow testing association have been busy working with County Agent Underwood for the past month signing up members for this proposed association which has for its object the elimination of the cows that are not paying their feed bill and also increasing the butter fat and milk production per herd.

A meeting will be held in the county agent's office Tuesday evening, March 29, at 7:30 o'clock at which time Mr. Rodebaugh of the Cumber-land county cow testing association will be present and explain what the association has meant to the dairy-men with whom he has been working.

Walter Nissley, vegetable gardening specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, is working in the county with County Agent Underwood on the to-mato variety demonstrations being scheduled cooperating with the state canners association through the local canners, Burgoon and Yingling, Gettysburg; O. M. Matheis, Littlestown, and M. N. Wehler, Littlestown.

The success of the early spring garden depends largely on the way one grasps opportunities. For ex-ample, the week of March 14 was warm and dry; that was the time to prepare the seedbed and even sow such seed as spinach, onion sets, let-tuce, beets, carrots, radishes, and even take a chance on early peas. At this time the soil is wet but the tempera-ture is comparatively warm. Since it may be several weeks before the soil can be handled, the ones who grasped the early opportunity will eat and market the earliest vegetables.

AMUSEMENTS

"Tin Gods"
Thomas Meighan and Aileen Pringle have had rice thrown at them by more well known people than any other players in motion pictures. Writers, stage players, producers and finan-ciers, all of them Mr. Meighan's neighbors at Great Neck, Long Island, made up the crowd which attended a wedding at All Saint's church.

In "Tin Gods," which comes to the Lincoln Way on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, an adaptation of Wil-liam Anthony McGuire's stage play, "Roger Drake," (Thomas Meighan), and "Janet Stone," (Aileen Pringle), are married with considerable pomp.

Mr. Meighan and Allen Dwan, the director, went into conference at Par-amount's Long Island Studio and de-cided to send the following telegram to Mr. Meighan's neighbors:—"You are cordially invited to at-tend the wedding of Mr. Roger Drake to Janet Stone at All Saint's church, Middle Neck Road, Thursday at 10 o'clock."

The telegrams were sent to Ring Lardner, Frank Craven, Sam Harris, Gene Buck, Oscar Shaw, Ed Wynn, Ernest Truex, Arthur Hopkins, Earl Benham, George Sims, Arthur Ham-merstein, Jack Hazzard, Joseph Sant-ley, Albert Parker, Walter P. Chrys-ler and their wives.

There was much telephoning among friends to learn who "Roger Drake" and "Janet Stone" might be. Mrs. Meighan, among others, was called. She said she knew both and thought them very nice. That put a social O. K. on the affair.

When Ed Wynn arrived at the wedding he burst into a loud laugh and told Mr. Meighan he had thought "Janet Stone" to be a girl with whom he had once worked. He stayed for the ceremonies and joined in the rice throwing.

Hale Hamilton acted as best man. The six bridesmaids were motion pic-ture actresses especially costumed for the occasion.

"THERE YOU ARE"
"There You Are," Conrad Nagel's most hilarious incursion into the realm of comedy, plays at the Strand theatre, Monday and Tuesday. The new story, in which Nagel goes his comedy hit in "Dance Madness" one better, is a side-splitting filmization of F. Hugh Herbert's novel of the same name, relating the trials and tribulations that beset a pair of elon-gers (played by Nagel and Edith Rob-erts), in their attempt to escape an angry father and battery of traffic policemen, in the face of such ob-stacles as misplaced identity, a lost baby saddled upon them—and a collie dog that proves a Nemesis.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature is essentially a whimsical comedy—but it is staged in a setting of thrills, such as a wild race of the clappers with a small army of motor-cycle policemen through city traffic, a desperate leap from an apartment window to a careening taxi in which Nagel shows his skill as an athlete, and other swift-moving incidents.

The cast of the new picture is no-table, including, besides the two prin-cipals, such players as George Faw-cett, Gwen Lee, Phillips Smalley, Ed-die Gribbon, Gertrude Bennett, Elmo Billings, Billy Engle and others of note.

Out of the Past

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The friends of heroic and suffering Greece, says the United States Gazette, will be gratified to learn that the Greek fund in Philadelphia exceeds $15,000.

A committee has reported a bill in the Legislature of New York, appropriating one thousand barrels of flour for the relief of the Greeks, which the Albany Argus has reason to believe will be sanctioned by the legislature.

Philadelphia, March 10.

Yesterday the ship, Chancellor, commanded by Captain Baker, sailed for Napoli di Romania, with a full cargo of cornmeal, flour, rice, clothing, etc., etc., for the Greeks—the cargo is valued at $18,000. Mr. Miller goes out as agent.

We add the good old abrogation of the ancient bills of lading, "And so God send the good ship to the desired port in safety."

The Chancellor, it is expected, will soon be followed by another ship under the agency of Lieutenant Carpenter, of the United States Navy.

New England Annual Fast.—The governor of the state of Maine has lately issued the following proclamation for the annual fast solemnized in the New England states, which we recommend as a model for similar compositions.

N. Y. Evening Post.

By advice of the councils and in compliance with venerated usage, I appoint Thursday, the fifth day of April next, for humiliation, fasting and prayer.

I recommend to each citizen to observe the day as a Christian; if he be under the influence of any vice, to banish it; if in error, to correct it; if under obligations to others, honestly to discharge them; if suffering injuries, to forgive them; and if able to do any benevolent act to any being created by the Almighty Power to which he owes his existence and his faculties, to do it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TECHNIQUE

WHEN you look at the subject of this Talk, just as a word, it rather scares you. Personally I dislike big words, or words that have to be accompanied by their biographies before you really know them.

But technique is quite an important word in its meaning, which to put it into a simple definition is something like this: the manner by which an artist works out his thoughts.

We speak, therefore, of an artist's, or writer's, or surgeon's technique. And when we have explained it, what it consists of, its characteristics, then we know something of the thought and personality of the human being behind it all.

Technique is very important. When applied to life itself, it becomes intensely important.

A large number of folk in this world have no technique at all. They just drift, or slide, or are pushed.

The man or woman with a technique has to pack ideas, has to think, has to hunt, has to observe, has to listen, has to be patient, has to get thoroughly discouraged—to work up a background—before real, lasting work can be achieved.

I recently read a great article on the elder J. P. Morgan by Judge Gary. As I read, this absorbing story of a real giant in constructive achievement drove me to think of the technique of this marvelous man. And this is the conclusion to which I came—there was a man who worked simply, soundly, and who placed more emphasis upon human character than upon material assets. The big men of the world trusted him. When he had given his word, that was enough. You didn't need a contract written out to make it go through.

I like best that style of a man whose character runs through his writings. That is why I love to read the things that W. H. Hudson wrote. Conrad, in commenting upon the writings of Hudson, once said: "You can't tell how this fellow gets his effects. He writes as the grass grows. The good God makes it be there. And that is all there is to it!"

The technique of an artist is the man himself.

Especially, I recommend that, being members of one great community we unite as Christian politicians, so that we may render perpetual the peace and prosperity of our country and of this state.

Enoch Lincoln.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Judge

A. B. Kurtz, Whigs, 50; Jacob Culp, Locos, 147.

Inspector

David Sweeney, W., 90; William J. Martin, W., 77; D. Kendlehart, L., 124.

Assessor

George H. Swope, W., 153; A. F. Flemming, L., 133.

Assistant Assessors

Robert Smith, W., 154; John Houck, W., 142; Sol. Powers, L., 159; Jacob Sheades, L., 142.

Constables

Nich. Weaver, W., 147; Sol. R. Tipton, W., 132; William White, L., 166.

The vote was not a full one, and was pretty much controlled by local and personal issues, as an examination of the table will readily show. The Whip vote of the borough was not polled by 70 or 80.

Married.—On the 21st inst., by the Rev. Jacob Ziegler, Alfred Miller, of Cumberland township, and Mrs. Mary Ann Magdalene Wirts, of this borough. On the 24th inst., by the same, Rev. W. D. Radel, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran (St. Paul's) church in Lower Marion, Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, and Miss Josephine, daughter of Samuel S. Forney, of this borough.

Melancholy Accident.—We stop the press to announce a most sad and melancholy accident, which happened a few moments ago, in the pulling down of the Catholic church, in this place, at which the contractors for the new building were engaged. Henry Hollinger, a most estimable young man, in the employ of the Messrs. Chritzman, and Charles Buckmaster (a colored man) were instantly killed by the falling of one of the walls.

They were engaged at the time in undermining the wall, when it prematurely gave way, completely enveloping them and crushing them so as to cause instantaneous death. Mr. Hollinger is the same individual who, a few years ago, was severely injured by the accidental discharge of a gun. We need hardly say that this sad affair has produced a profound sensation in our community among whom the deceased had many friends who will deplore his loss.

Copper Mining.—Most of our readers have been apprised of the fact that several mining companies have been operating for some time at various points in our county in copper, but few are aware of the extent or success of these operations. We ourselves were not a little surprised on a recent visit to the "Buena Vista mine" located some six or seven miles northeast of this place by the New England Exploring and Mining company to find that the work was so far advanced and that the results had been so favorable.

LITTLESTOWN

Harry Keller returned to his home, this place, after spending several months at Orlando and various other places in Florida. Mr. Keller also spent several days in Washington, D. C., before returning to Littlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Tagg, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Reinecker and family, near town, were guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Tagg's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Selby, Uniontown, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Renner, who have been occupying part of the Abraham Keagy property, moved their household furnishings to their home in Crouse Park, which was recently erected.

Miss Kathryn Wolfe who has been confined to her bed by illness is greatly improved.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

PURPOSE

If in the world we do no more than this:

Keep one small fire aglow,
One little doorway trailed with clematis,
Which love may smile to know;

One little garden where the pansies bloom,
And but a rose or two,
With laughter ringing in the sitting room

When the long day is through;
If those who share our lives in us rejoice
Despite life's care and pain,
If for their sake we've made the fairer choice,

We have not lived in vain.
True worth is not in fortune's proud display
Nor splendor's dazzling task,
Who lives his life with courage, day by day,
Does all the Lord shall ask.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

"Well, let's meander along," said Uncle Lucky, growing tired of watching Mr. Grouse beat the air with his wings, and up the Winding Trail hopped the old gentleman rabbit, followed by his small bunny nephew. By and by, not so very far, they came in sight of the Big Chestnut Tree, that convenient old hollow giant that served as an apartment house for many little folks of fur and feather. Yes, indeed, all through the winter, coon and possum, owl and woodpecker, had found snug quarters within its hollow trunk.

"There's Rastus Coon," all of a sudden remarked Uncle Lucky, pointing to the old racoon sitting in front of a pile of rocks a good distance off. "Hello, Rastus! What are you doing so far from the old homestead?"

"You don't say so," exclaimed astonished Uncle Lucky.

"Yes, I do," said Rastus Coon, sullenly.

"What's the reason?" asked the old gentleman rabbit, pleasantly.

"No room for me, now-a-days."

"How's that?" enquired Uncle Lucky.

"Twins?" queried the old gentleman rabbit, with a smile and a chuckle.

"Twice that," solemnly answered Rastus.

"Well, I never," ejaculated surprised Uncle Lucky.

"That's the reason I've had to move to this cave in the rocks."

"Oh, well," consoled the old gentleman rabbit. "When they are a little older, Mrs. Coon will invite you home. For the time being I imagine she's too busy to get breakfast for you. Four little mouths are enough to feed. I should say."

"Uncle Lucky met Mistress Spring the other day."

"Yes, I did," laughed the dear old gentleman rabbit. "Winter is over. Rastus. Warm days are coming," and away hopped dear Uncle Lucky with his bunny nephew at his heels.

"Mother Coons always insist that fathers make room for their little family. Rastus needn't think he's the only male coon who must seek another home temporarily."

"Why's that?" asked the little bunny, curiously.

"Well, I never," ejaculated surprised Uncle Lucky.

"That's the reason I've had to move to this cave in the rocks."

People Have Less Stamina, Is Claim

London.—Life's whirl today has a "softening" effect which has created a race of less physical stamina than its forefathers, says Sir George Newman, chief medical officer of the health ministry and board of education.

"We have become a race of town-folk," avers the physician, who makes it clear that although the physique of a nation has been impaired by modern life, the general physical condition of the children has been improved.

Post-war children are taller and heavier than the children of 1913, says Sir George in his annual report. He contends that the child who is leaving school at 14 under the present circumstances is better physically in every way even than was the child who was leaving at 20 years of age.

Skinny Men Can Do the Same.

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

As rich in vitamins as the nasty, fishy-tasting cod liver oil itself, but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy, and won't upset the stomach.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days. 60 tablets, 60 cents. Ask People's Drug Store or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

RHEUMATISM GONE AFTER 20 YEARS

No one is more to be pitied than those poor sufferers from rheumatism whose every movement means pain and agony. Yet, there is a sure way to get relief as Mr. Geo. F. Seitz, Route 7, Lebanon, Pa., discovered. He says:

"After 20 years of rheumatism that kept me in constant misery and began taking Drego and this wonderful remedy ended every one of my pains and enabled me to get around as well as ever. I am now convinced that Drego is the only satisfactory remedy for rheumatism for I tried most everything else that was recommended to me."

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, William J. Boyd, who departed this life one year ago today, March 28, 1926. One long year has passed away. Since you, my dear husband, were taken away, And as the days are passing by, I miss you more each day.

Sad and lonely are the days Since you were taken away, Still we know it was God's wish To take you from us here.

There is a grave that is dear to us, Where we often stand and weep, For underneath that grassy sod Our dear father lies asleep.

My dear father, how we miss you, As this long year has passed by, When we sit and think of you, It almost seems it is a dream.

Many, many years you suffered Pain that was very hard to bear, Still it was very hard to give you But God always knows the best.

While you're resting on, dear father, And the days are passing by, We will pray to meet each other In a bright and happy home, By his children.

Cellulose Makes Glass Resist Bullets

Chicago.—Glass which stops a bullet like a block of wax stops a paper wad has undergone tests at the Underwriters Laboratories which indicate its adaptability to banks and similar institutions where banditry is a hazard.

The glass consists of three thicknesses closely resembling ordinary plate glass, bound together with thin strips of transparent cellulose material. The same solid thickness could be pierced easily by a bullet, but laboratory employees who have fired a barrage of shots at the new glass, in a test extending over several weeks, have found their bullets halted by the mobile mass. They have used the types of weapons generally employed by bandits.

Four presidents dropped their first names. Cleveland was named Stephen Grover; Wilson, Thomas Woodrow; Grant, Hiram Ulysses, and Coolidge, John Calvin.

Senator Frank Greene, of Vermont, quit school at thirteen and went to work as an errand boy on the Central Vermont Railway.
